GRADUATE SCHOOL LIFE SCIENCE MUNICH

The Graduate School Life Science Munich (LSM) of the Ludwig-Maximilians-University Munich offers an International PhD program

in life sciences covering areas of anthropology, biochemistry, cell biology, ecology, evolution, genetics, microbiology, plant sciences, systematics and zoology.

The program will be complemented by lectures, seminars and workshops, and provides scientific training in one of Germany's top universities.

Applicants will be selected based on academic qualification, research experience and motivation. The LSM also accepts outstanding students with a Bachelor's degree, which will be enrolled in a preparatory program (covered by a stipend of 643 Euro per month).
